BTEC Level 3 Subsidiary Diploma

HOSPITALITY

What is the BTEC Level 3 Subsidiary Diploma?

The hospitality industry contributes billions of pounds each year to the UK economy and is one of its fastest growing sectors. The industry employs more than 3 million people and is the fourth largest sector in the UK in terms of employment. It offers various career paths in a range of areas, including management, operations and self-employment. The hospitality sector is made up of a variety of different sub-sectors such as hotels, restaurants, event management and catering. BTEC Level 3 qualifications in hospitality give learners the opportunity to make progress in the sector, whether their chosen route is employment, an apprenticeship or university.

Course Content and Assessment:

There are three Mandatory units:

1. The Hospitality Industry
2. Principles of Supervising Customer Service Performance in Hospitality, Leisure, Travel and Tourism
3. Providing Customer Service in Hospitality

Additional units include:

- European Food
- Asian Food
- Contemporary World Food

All units are internally assessed but externally moderated. Each unit has specified assessment and grading criteria which are used for grading purposes. A summative unit grade can be awarded

Course Overview:

Each of the units studied will develop the core specialist knowledge, understanding and skills, including knowledge and understanding of the scale, structure and organisation of provision of the hospitality industry, the principles of supervising customer service, how to provide customer service and why good customer service is essential for hospitality businesses to succeed, required by the sector.

You will gain knowledge of the equipment, commodities, storage and cooking methods required to prepare and cook Asian food, the historical influences on Asian food, the styles of food, and the types of dishes that are prepared and cooked in Asia and gain skills in preparing, cooking and reviewing Asian dishes. You will also gain knowledge of the commodities used in contemporary world food and gain skills to plan menus, prepare, cook, present and review contemporary world dishes.

Learning Methods:

There's a good mix of practical and theoretical work to this course, with a variety of learning styles used to engage and enthuse students.

Where possible, practical elements are built into the different units of work.

Career Opportunities:

The BTEC Level 3 Subsidiary Diploma is equivalent to one A-level and is widely accepted by both universities and employers.

Students who wish to pursue their studies in this area often progress to degrees such as hospitality and events management or specialist culinary arts courses.

Entry Requirements:

- Grade 4 or above in English and Maths
- Ideally a L2 qualification in Catering
